Gemtor harnesses have become the preferred choice of the Fire Service because of our unmatched quality, durability and dependability.

Every 541NYC harness has a UL® classification in accordance with NFPA 1983-2012 57AF.

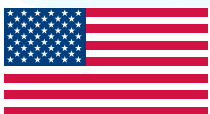

Most bunker gear manufacturers offer loops with original purchase or as a retrofit to accommodate our harness.

The 541NYC harness integrates well with the Sterling F4™, Petzl EXO™ and other Personal Escape Systems. See other side to determine the proper model number best suited for your equipment and gear. Hip and Lumbar bags are available to contain your Escape System.

Our Class II harnesses are designed for fast and easy donning, are made of high strength nylon webbing and are designed to reduce the possibility of toppling by reducing the user's center of gravity. Several configurations are available to meet your requirements.

Recognized by many industries, Gemtor prides itself on quality and customer service.

- Unique adjustable leg strap design allows one foot to be placed through a color coded loop allowing the entire harness to go on effortlessly.
- Sturdy, lightweight 1¾" Nylon webbing stitched with high tenacity Nylon thread.
- Patented design lowers the body's center of gravity and helps reduce the possibility of toppling. (Patent #4446943)
- Available with Zinc plated Steel or Aluminum Pompier "Triple Lock" hooks featuring automatic closing and locking gates with a 2" opening that are designed for one handed use.
- Hooks classified as a 9,000 pound minimum breaking strength NFPA general use carabiner by Underwriters Laboratories (UL).
- 541NYC with aluminum hook weighs 2.8 pounds.
- Left or right side snaphook opening to accommodate all types of bunker pants.
- Available in three adjustable sizes. 30" - 44" waist, 36" - 50" waist and 44" - 56" waist.
- Harness provides extreme versatility during fire and rescue operations and does not limit mobility during other tasks.
- Also available without a pompier Hook
